Statement from UA System Chancellor St. John:
Veteran Officer Steve Anderson Named UA System Director of Security

Steve Anderson has been named Director of System Security for the University of Alabama System. With nearly 25 years of experience in all aspects of law enforcement, Steve has extensive training in security, planning and logistics.

He has worked collaboratively with local, state and federal partners, including municipalities, K-12 schools and the non-profit sector. During his 11-year tenure as Chief of Police for the City of Tuscaloosa, we have had the opportunity to see the impact of his skills and insights in times of growth and change.

In his new role, Steve Anderson will work with our System leadership team and the campuses to coordinate a wide variety of activities to benefit our students, faculty, staff, alumni and the citizens of Alabama.
